SYNOPSIS

High-powered fashion maverick Michael Jardine (C.Thomas Howell- “The Outsiders”, “Soulman”) is at the top of his field, respected and admired by his peers and desired by the world’s most beautiful women. Michael Jardine is a man with a destiny – he is totally absorbed with his business, a cut-throat competitor, on the verge of locking in a place a multi-million dollar deal with the Japanese for the globalization of his company. But Michael is just about to meet his match.

At the launching of his latest line of swimwear, Michael spots the beautiful and exotic Dara (Sofia Shinas – “The Crow”) on the balcony.

Immediately infatuated with this mysterious woman, Michael becomes obsessed with making Dara his next conquest, driven by the loneliness that his business and a recent divorce have left him. But the elusive Dara proves to be more than Michael can handle. She leads him in a wild game of cat and mouse across the city, testing Michael’s loyalty and his stamina, but always leaving him one step behind.

As the days pass, Michael spends less and less time at the office and more time pursuing Dara, much to the chagrin of, his bed-ridden father (Terry Kaiser – “Weekend at Bernie’s”), the less competent business partner, who is left behind to manage the multi-million dollar deal that will make or break their company. To make matters worse, a recent murder has been linked to the company and the police chief (Ed Begley Jr. – “She Devil”) is beginning to suspect Michael himself. As the company begins to crumble, Michael, consumed with unbridled passion, follows Dara and her dark twisted plan for revenge.

“Hourglass” is a high-powered thriller with special appearances by Kiefer Sutherland, Timothy Bottoms and Lou Diamond Phillips.
